Do your patrons ask you questions that have you stumped?

This ready reference course will help you with that. It will cover three main topics: a definition of reference; how to conduct a reference interview; and where to find the answer. The workshop will be presented by the State Library's Research Librarian and the Inter-Library Loan Coordinator. Training will be presented at various locations around the state. Additional training will be available online at a later date.

Who would benefit from this course?

School and public library staff

Participants will learn to:

- ◆ Determine what types of questions their patrons are asking
- ◆ Conduct a positive and helpful reference interview
- ◆ Locate and use appropriate resources for finding the answers that are needed
- ◆ Learn when to refer a question to the State Library
- ◆ Learn Inter-Library Loan processes in SDLN and WorldCat
